Call for presenters at arts networking in Orange

Warm your wintery hands by the glow of local creativity at the next Arts OutWest Winter Arts Networking Night in Orange.

Arts OutWest are bringing their popular social event back to Orange on Tuesday 16 August at the Union Bank Hotel.

The night is a chance for anyone interested in any area of the arts industry to meet likeminded others, share their latest project and meet Arts OutWest staff.

Arts OutWest are calling for locals to present short, snappy (six minute) slide shows about their work. Over the past two years these night have been a showcase for an eclectic mix of stories and ideas from previews of new projects, recaps of recent achievements to artists sharing what inspires them.

“People will share their ideas, experiences or even a rundown of their current projects. It’s a great way to promote what you do and enthuse others about it,” Arts OutWest executive director Tracey Callinan said.

Everyone in the community is invited to come along to hear the local presentations and to network.

“This is also social event for the whole arts and creative community, for anyone interested in arts and culture. A chance to meet, mingle, introduce yourself, make contacts and maybe even kick start future collaborations,” Ms Callinan said.

Entry is by donation, finger food will be provided, drinks available at the bar.

Arts OutWest’s Winter Arts Networking Nights are held in towns across the NSW Central West. Lithgow, Blayney and Bathurst nights have already been held this year to great success. Other events are scheduled for Grenfell, Canowindra, Cowra, Oberon and Parkes.
